

COMMITTEE BRIEF FOR THE RECRUITMENT POST

Every committee open this cycle, what it does, and the head roles inside it. Written to be lifted straight into the post — the "post hook" line under each committee is the one that speaks to an applicant.

6 committees

25 head roles total

Interviews 4 Aug – 15 Aug

Applicants pick a 1st and 2nd choice

2 committees ask for a task

TECH TEAM

Builds systems, automations, dashboards, forms, and workflows that make Resala easier to manage.

POST HOOK

You see messy processes and naturally think: we can build a system for this.

The Navigator

PROJECT LEAD

Takes full ownership of tech projects, ensures everything is according to the system set in place and makes sure deadlines are met.

The Builder

DEVELOPER

Turns the project plan into working software or systems. Focuses on writing clear, documented code that others can easily understand, and proactively communicates both progress and technical setbacks.

The Closer

DEPLOYMENT SPECIALIST

Manages the project handover by delivering the solution, training non-technical clients, and writing clear documentation. Conducts scheduled check-ins to ensure the client is entirely self-sufficient.

The Scout

SOLUTIONS RESEARCHER

Evaluates incoming requests and starts researching all possible pros and cons of each possible solution, weighs all solutions and shows it to the committee.

The Verifier

QUALITY TESTER

Tests the built solution strictly against the client's actual success criteria, rather than just checking if it runs. Acts as the final quality checkpoint to ensure the product genuinely solves the problem before delivery.

The Firefighter

ON-CALL RESPONDER

Acts as a rapid first responder to fix unexpected breakages in previously deployed systems. Works well under pressure to resolve urgent requests so the rest of the team isn't pulled away from ongoing projects.

OPERATIONS

Turns plans into reality through logistics, vendors, supplies, setup, tracking, and on-ground problem-solving.

POST HOOK

You are practical, flexible, and willing to handle pressure before and during events.

The Planner

REQUEST & PLANNING

Receives and reviews requests from committees, clarifies requirements, develops timelines, and coordinates with stakeholders to ensure every request is fully prepared before execution.

The Negotiator

PROCUREMENT & VENDORS

Sources vendors, compares quotations, negotiates prices, coordinates purchases, and maintains strong supplier relationships while keeping procurement within budget.

The Organizer

INVENTORY & STORAGE

Manages the inventory system by tracking equipment, organizing storage, maintaining accurate records, and ensuring all items are available and ready for events.

The Coordinator

LOGISTICS & EVENT SUPPORT

Coordinates transportation, event setup, on-site operational support, equipment handling, and teardown to ensure smooth event execution.

BRANDING / MEDIA

Builds Resala's public image through storytelling, campaigns, design, media, reels, and consistent visual identity.

POST HOOK

You want to build campaigns, lead creative work, and make Resala's impact visible to the world.

Head of Projects

Leads the other heads and owns the workflow from end to end. You take each request from the moment it arrives, decide which teams to activate, assign it, set deadlines, and keep every stage moving — filming, editing, design, publishing — so nothing sits waiting on someone who forgot. At any moment, you are the person who knows the status of every project. Suits someone organized and comfortable holding people to deadlines, including those who are not obliged to listen. This is the only role where the main skill is running other people rather than making the content yourself.

Head of Graphic Design

Owens how Resala looks. You design posters, feed posts, carousels, story graphics, thumbnails and event branding, and protect the visual identity — fonts, color palette, templates — so every post is recognizably ours. Suits a designer who works fast to a brief, builds reusable templates, and takes honest feedback without taking it personally.

Head of Acting & Production

Runs everything that happens on the day of filming. You choose who appears on camera, write scripts, direct interviews and documentary shoots, organize locations and schedules, and make sure every shot on the list is captured before the team leaves. Suits someone confident with people, who can keep a shoot moving and get a natural answer out of a nervous volunteer.

Head of Video Editing

Turns raw footage into the reels, documentaries, and interviews that go on the page. You cut the video, add subtitles, transitions, and motion graphics, keep one editing style across platforms, and archive footage so it can be reused. Suits someone who can hold a story together and deliver on a deadline, not just make something look good.

HR

Keeps the community alive through engagement, onboarding, feedback, belonging, recognition, and accountability.

POST HOOK

You want to bring people back into the mission and keep the team connected.

Engagement Head

THE CONNECTOR

Plans and leads activities that help volunteers build friendships, stay engaged, and enjoy being a part of Resala. Organizes team-building initiatives, gathers member feedback, and works with other committees to strengthen participation and build a strong sense of community.

Tracking System Head

THE ORGANIZER

Keeps Resala's HR data accurate and usable. Owns the volunteer database and attendance tracking system, works hand-in-hand with the Tech Team to keep it running, and turns raw data into reports that make the club's decisions, like VOM and COM, actually fair.

Inclusion Head

THE ADVOCATE

Ensures that every volunteer feels welcomed, supported, and able to participate fully in Resala. Coordinates accessibility and inclusion initiatives, supports visually impaired and international students, and works with committees to remove barriers to participation.

Recognition & Accountability Head

THE FAIR JUDGE

Makes sure effort gets seen and gaps get addressed — fairly, every time. Reviews attendance and performance data, follows up with members who've gone quiet, oversees warnings and demotions when they're truly needed, and coordinates recognition (VOM/COM) with the Branding Team.

PR / FUNDRAISING

Opens doors through external relationships, collaborations, aligned sponsors, partnerships, and fundraising strategy.

POST HOOK

You enjoy opening doors and turning communication into partnerships, sponsorships, and support.

Sponsorship Head

The sponsorship head leads the committee responsible for gathering finances and in-kind donations for all of Resala's initiatives. This role focuses on working with sponsors, which includes finding and approaching sponsors, creating sponsorship strategies and maintaining relations with sponsors. This role requires someone that enjoys networking and has great negotiation skills.

Partnerships Head

The partnerships head is in charge of all PR campaigns created to gather resources and awareness, in addition to club collaborations for large events. This role focuses on building relationships with clubs and the student body, while creating awareness campaigns on Resala's initiatives. This role requires someone that enjoys collaborations and is creative.

Events Head

The events head is responsible for all fundraising events and donation campaigns created to fundraise for Resala's initiatives. This role focuses on event planning, coordination and execution. This role requires someone that enjoys planning and is calm under pressure and adaptable.

VISITS

Plans direct visits that fill real gaps through presence, goals, volunteer preparation, and respectful community contact.

POST HOOK

You are flexible, organized, and ready to deal with people and places outside the AUC community.

Discovery Head

Leads the discovery process before each visit by assessing beneficiary needs, gathering information, and preparing reports that help the team design the most suitable visit plan.

Impact Head

Evaluates completed visits by collecting feedback, documenting outcomes, and identifying improvements that maximize the long-term impact of future visits.

Execution Head

Plans and manages the execution of visits by organizing volunteers, coordinating activities, and ensuring that every visit is carried out smoothly and efficiently.

Storytelling Head

Captures and shares the story of every visit through photography, videography, and social media, highlighting the impact of Resala Visits and inspiring community engagement.

Interview length differs by committee – noted on each card. Only Branding / Media and Visits ask applicants to prepare something in advance.